Woman Identifies Jewels
Found With Men Accused in Burglaries.

Sergeant Lovett and Patrolman Wilkin-son, of the West 124th street station, went in pursuit of Harry Katz, 37, of 38 West 154th street, and Aaron Katz, 23, of 1873 Lexington avenue, yesterday morning when they saw them driving from the store of Louis Weinstein, 1450 Fifth avenue, which had been entered by cutting through from the hallway. The men surrendered after the policemen had chased them several blocks and fired several shots. Silk hosiery worth $1,000 and a Jimmy were found in the automobile, the police say. The prisoners were held in $25,000 bail each for a hearing Tuesday.

Thomas Cooley, 58, of 272 Bowery, and John Kearns, 37, of 331 West Twentieth street, are suspected of having committed a score of burglaries on the upper East Side, policemen told Magistrate Smith, before whom they were arraigned in Yorkville Court yesterday. Miss Etta Warren, of 135 East Fifty-eighth street, alleges the prisoners stole $2,000 worth of jewels from her home Wednesday night. They were held in $25,000 bail each for a hearing tomorrow.

Entrance was forced to the box office of the Park Music Hall in Columbus Circle early yesterday and $200 in change stolen. Fur coats valued at $12,000 were stolen yesterday morning from the store of Robert W. Horshel at 1408 Broadway, Brooklyn. After a door had been forced, a woman who lives above the store saw five men loading coats into an automobile and called for the police. They got away. Half an hour before that entrance was forced to the restaurant of Tony Dahlbender at 1409 Broadway, Brooklyn, and several boxes of cigars and cigarettes were taken.

Patrolman George Capelli accidentally shot Detective Sergeant John F. Beatty early yesterday while they and several other policemen were looking for burglars, reported to have been seen in an apartment house at 107 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, directly across the street from police headquarters. Beatty, who was in plain clothes, saw a man climb from the window of another apartment, and he hurried down to the yard in the rear to intercept him. Capelli failed to recognize Beatty and shot at the wall back of him. The bullet glanced off the wall and hit the sergeant. Then Capelli tripped and fell, breaking his left ankle.

LINDE WELL GUARDED IN BOMB PLOT MYSTERY

Ellis Island Officials Say
Nothing About Him.

William Linde, also known as Wilfrid Lindenfeld and more intimately as "Whitely Linde," who has been connected by agents of the Department of Justice in some never entirely explained manner with the Wall street explosion, was held under heavy guard yesterday at Ellis Island, where he is being kept in the room where he is kept at Ellis Island. An agent of the Department of Justice kept watch just outside the door. Meanwhile reports went around Ellis Island that Linde had gone on a hunger strike. When the question of whether Linde had refused food and eggs was put to Harry R. Landis, Assistant Commissioner of Immigration, he said:

"No question whatever relating to the alien, William Linde, will be answered by the immigration authorities. Our orders are to say nothing about him." Linde is held on the technical ground that he is "likely to become a public charge."

$60,000 FLATBUSH FIRE MENACES MANY HOMES

Two Houses Destroyed and
Two Badly Damaged.

Fire that started last night at 1256 East Nineteenth street, in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn, threatened for a time to destroy numerous houses, many of which had just been built. The high wind drove sparks to roofs and set fire to and burned a stable almost a block away.

The buildings at No. 1254 and at 1254 were burned and the sparks set fire to a three family house on the north and to a house on the south side occupied by Frank McCray and his family, who were away. They were badly destroyed. Deputy Chief O'Hara responded from Brooklyn Fire Headquarters after a third alarm was turned in. August Kuhne, Deputy Inspector, was on the scene with reserves from the Parkville station. Damage was estimated at $60,000.

FORD DEPLORES DELAY IN JUSTICE IN COURTS

Says Some Lawyers Profit by Crowded Calendars.

"A deplorable condition of delayed justice" has grown up in the Supreme Court of the first department, Justice John Ford said yesterday in an interview on "The Law's Delay."

According to his analysis the court calendars in New York and Bronx county are so congested that litigants must wait ordinarily two years before their actions may come to trial. He said also that it was possible for ingenious lawyers to find "means of further delaying the trial when delay will serve the interests of their client."

Justice Ford proposed the appointment of six additional justices, which he said the department may claim under the constitution.

"The Legislature has power to give them to us," he said. "It should be done at the approaching session."

ADDRESSES THE MAINE WOMEN

Child Welfare Secretary Tells of Association's Work in Schools.

Charles F. Powellson, general secretary of the National Child Welfare Association, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Maine Women yesterday at the Waldorf. Mr. Powellson showed a collection of educational posters being used by the organization in schoolrooms to teach citizenship, thrift, more wholesome standards of health and morals and a high personal idealism.

The Stout Woman has Two Problems instead of One

THE HOUSE OF LANE BRYANT is the largest institution in the world catering exclusively to stout women. It owes this position to the fact that it was the first such institution to realize that the stout woman has two problems instead of one. She wants style as well as fit. And these are the two problems Lane Bryant has studied and solved.

We offer the stout woman not alone apparel of girth, but apparel that modifies that girth with the grace of slenderizing lines. And because we are specialists in stout apparel, we are also able to cater to slender incomes as well as to promote slender figures.

Arnold, Constable & Co.

FIFTH AVENUE AT FORTIETH STREET

FOUNDED 95 YEARS AGO MERCHANDISE AND SERVICE OF QUALITY

A Treasure Box of Christmas Gifts

Reflecting the spirit of friendship that calls for full expression at Christmas time, and the standard of quality that is the corner-stone of the Arnold Constable business

Christmas 95 years ago

How very different were conditions in New York in the Christmases of more than ninety years ago.

In the year that Aaron Arnold founded this business—1827—most of the people of New York gave personal Christmas greetings or gifts of their own making, and looked so little to the shops for service that, on the day before Christmas, the Evening Post printed the following:

"Want of time (what an odd reason!) compels us to omit a number of advertisements of fancy articles as suitable accompaniments to the kind wishes of the season. They shall have a conspicuous place in our next. Tomorrow, being Christmas, no paper will be issued from this office."

A postponed advertisement

"Madam, let me sell you an elegant breast pin; do you prefer gold, pearl or jet? Perhaps you fancy one with a watch in it. Please examine this brilliant necklace; this rich chain of gold; this ornamented comb; or these superb bracelets. This liquid rouge is a superior article, I assure you. Spangles? yes, madam, of every description, gold, silver and steel. This watch is warranted to keep time; and the chain and trinkets, you perceive, are very brilliant. These ear-rings are all the ton—the Governor's lady wears the same."
